

California Naturalist Program Fall 2019 Scholarship Application

Santa Barbara Botanic Garden
In Collaboration with University of California Cooperative Extension

Due Monday, August 19, 2019

The University of California Cooperative Extension and the Hopland Research and Extension Center want to enable all interested people to participate in the California Naturalist Program, regardless of financial considerations. A limited number of need-based scholarships are available that will cover 50% of the registration costs. Follow-up interviews may be required. All applicants will receive notification of their scholarship status by August 23, 2019. Fees are due on acceptance, and will be due no later than 4pm on September 4, 2019.

A partial refund of fees of all but the $110 UC fee (or $55 if on scholarship) is available once requirements are met for participants who volunteer 40 hours to the Garden. Restrictions apply. Please contact Michelle Cyr for more information.

Please submit application to Michelle Cyr, California Naturalist Coordinator
